

Are you a Research Software Engineer?

If there is the tiniest chance you'd like to share your RSE Story and would like to be contacted next year, please share your contact email using the form linked by the QR code below! Providing your contact is completely voluntary, and there is no obligation to participate if you change your mind.

RSE Stories is a podcast and blog that shares stories from real research software engineers. You can share your story by being recorded (a casual interview with Stanford RSE @vsoch) or by answering written questions that are shared on the blog. Have questions? Contact vsochat@stanford.edu.

